New Short-Term Projections Show Continued Job Growth

by: Laura Yetter, Senior Economist

Wyoming is projected to gain nearly 6,000 new jobs from second quarter 2022 (2022Q2) to second quarter 2024 (2024Q2) according to the newest short-term industry and occupational projections from the Research & Planning (R&P) section of the Wyoming Department of Workforce Services. This is a 2.1% increase in the number of jobs in Wyoming.

Projections are based on historical trends of how employment levels respond to market conditions. Wyoming experienced three periods of economic downturn over the last 13 years: 2009Q1 to 2010Q1, 2015Q2 to 2016Q4, and 2020Q2 to 2021Q1. An economic downturn is defined by R&P as a period of at least two consecutive quarters of over-the-year decrease in average monthly employment and total wages based on data from the Quarterly Census of Employment and Wages (QCEW).

The projections discussed in this article were prepared during a period of increased employment and wage growth for Wyoming. As the state recovered from the most recent economic downturn, over-the-year job growth in 2022 was seen in most industries, most notably mining and leisure & hospitality (Moore, 2023).

The mining sector drives Wyoming's overall economic health. The U.S. Energy Information Administration (2023) reported that oil regularly topped $100 per barrel during the spring and summer of 2022; in 2022Q2, which includes those months, Wyoming's mining sector added nearly 1,600 jobs compared to the prior year, an increase of 11.0% (Moore, 2022).

Short-Term Industry and Occupational Projections, 2022-2024

<https://doe.state.wy.us/LMI/projections.htm>

The short-term projections discussed in this report show a projected increase of nearly 1,500 jobs in mining from 2022 to 2024.

Industry Projections

Industries are classified according to the North American Industry Classification System, (NAICS). The industry projections are developed at the three-digit NAICS subsector level and then summed to the two-digit major industries shown in Table 1 (see page 6). The full industry projections table with three-digit NAICS subsectors can be found in Table 6 on page 13.

Short-term industry projections indicate that Wyoming's employment is expected to increase from 274,224 in 2022Q2 to 279,997 in 2024Q2, an increase of 5,773 jobs, or 2.1%. At the two-digit sector level, the largest increases in employment are projected for mining, including oil & gas (1,466, or 9.1%), health care & social assistance (888, or 2.7%), and professional, scientific, & technical services (816, or 7.8%). The only notable projected decreases in private sector employment is found in utilities (-47, or -2.0%). Total government employment is projected to remain largely unchanged (-9, or 0.0%).

Occupational Projections

Occupations are classified using the Standard Occupational Classification, (SOC) system. This publication includes occupational projection tables for each two-digit major group (see Tables 7-29, pages 16-90) and by educational requirement (see Tables 30-36, pages 91-131).

In addition to growth or decline, short-term occupational projections also take into consideration anticipated openings due to workers exiting the workforce (exits) or changing occupations (transfers) from 2022Q2 to 2024Q2. Total openings are the sum of projected growth or decline in the number of jobs in a given occupation, plus the number of exits and transfers.

Projected growth or decline is a small component of total openings. In addition to the nearly 6,000 job openings due to growth, Wyoming is projected to have 28,840 openings due to exits and 39,884 openings due to transfers, or 74,636 total openings (see Table 2).

The 10 occupations with the greatest number of projected growth openings for Wyoming are shown in Table 2. Roustabouts, oil & gas is projected to add the greatest number of jobs (362, or 21.4%), followed by heavy & tractor-trailer truck drivers (274, or 4.2%), general & operations managers (251, or 3.9%), and service unit operators, oil & gas (217, or 20.1%). Of the 10 occupations with the greatest number of projected growth openings, only three (heavy & tractor-trailer truck drivers, general & operations managers and registered nurses) require some education beyond a high school diploma.

Many of these are relatively lower paying occupations with higher rates of turnover, such as fast food & counter workers (3,028 total openings), retail salespersons (2,551), cashiers (2,318), and waiters & waitresses (1,668). Eight of these occupations require no education beyond a high school diploma.

Jobs requiring no formal education make up 32.6% of all projected openings, while those requiring a high school diploma account for 39.8%, a combined 72.4%.
